

LEGISLATION ON LEGISLATORS

MAKE THREATS OF RESIGNATION

Representative Ashton Says County Commissioners Are Working for Charity.

HAVE SYMPATHY IN HEART NEED ADDITIONAL OFFICERS, HOWEVER, TO HELP IT ALONG.

At least two of the county commissioners threaten to resign unless this bill is passed. Out of the sympathy of their hearts these two commissioners have wrestled with the problem of the poor, and representative from Salt Lake County.

Mr. Ashton made this statement when house bill No. 122 was under consideration in the house yesterday. This bill re-enacts section 51, which already contains fifty-two subdivisions and is nine printed pages in length; the new bill is twenty typewritten pages in length. The clerk started in bravely to read the bill. He had progressed only a little way when some one suggested that the committee or some one explain the change. It transpired that there was no one prepared at the time to do it, the members of the committee "re-estimated" the job with the best of their ability, which was not very good.

The changes proposed to be made in the present law are three in number: Providing an assistant county physician; providing a pauper clerk, and legalizing acts on the part of the board in connection with the indigent poor. These points were contained in three bills presented by Russell a short time ago, 118, 119 and 121. All three were killed, and it was said at the time that they were killed because they did not re-enact the whole law, but there seems to be some doubt about that.

Anyhow, after everybody had talked, the bill was made a special order for Saturday.

STATE TO RELIEVE SETTLERS' DESTITUTION

Senator Alonzo Brinkerhoff has called the attention of the governor and the legislature to the destitution of about 200 persons living in Utah county on the newly opened Uintah reservation. Governor Spry and President Gardner are active in arousing public interest in these poor people and an appropriation from the legislature to relieve the needs of these people is planned.

The people who are now destitute came to Utah to locate land on the newly opened reservation and to build homes for themselves. The land was taken up, but for two years their crops have been failures, floods have made them practically homeless, their cattle and horses are dying of starvation and their children are suffering from the lack of sufficient food and clothing.

Their condition is attracting the attention of charitable people and church organizations, so that in addition to what the legislature may contribute another large sum to relieve their wants will probably be raised in the larger cities of the state.

HORSES AND CATTLE TAXED FOR BOUNTY

House bill No. 151 passed the house at a late hour yesterday. This bill provides for the creation of a state bounty fund to be used for the extermination of wild animals. This fund is to be raised and maintained by an appropriation of $20,000 by the state and the levying of a tax of 2 cents on horses and cattle and 4 cents on sheep.

It was the objection that persons would be taxed on their teams and milch cows if the bill prevailed, for the benefit of the sheep men. Many instances, however, were cited where cougars, mountain lions, bears and other predatory animals destroy livestock. One of the members said that $20,000 worth of stock was destroyed in this state every year by wild beasts.

If the bill, or a similar one, is successful, an effort will be made to induce congress to set aside a section of the public domain to be sold for the benefit of the work of exterminating the range pests.

COMMITTEES REPORT ON THIRTY-SIX BILLS

Senate committees yesterday reported favorably on twenty-two bills, killed by adverse reports nine bills, returned four bills with no recommendation, and submitted majority and minority reports on one bill. The bill on which there were two reports was senate bill No. 122, providing for saloon regulation, county and state option. None of the other bills reported on save the bill directed against Sunday theatres was of more than passing interest. The theatre-closing bill was returned by the joint committee without recommendation.

All of the committee reports were adopted, save those on senate bill 122, which were made a special order for this morning. The bills reported favorably and the bills on which no recommendation was made were placed on the calendar in their regular order for final passage. The bills reported adversely were killed.

President Taft Inspecting the Panama Canal at the Isla Theater this week.

There are many things to be bought in MARCH

For Instance—COLD CREAM CAMPHOR ICE TOILET CREAM and SKIN FOODS

Everything you need can be found at The B. F. Ott Drug Co's Up-to-Date Store

TELEPHONE BILLS ARE OUT OF DEATH

Like Fate Overtakes Bill Designed to Prohibit Compelling of Meter Deposits.

SENATOR WILSON'S REPLY HE THINKS PARTY ORGAN IS IN THE SAME CLASS.

Three bills introduced by Russell in the house yesterday. One of these bills fixed the rates for telephone rentals, and another required the two systems in Salt Lake and elsewhere, for that matter—to provide interchange of connections. The meter bill was intended to prevent the collecting of deposits of $10 for meters and other devices for measuring gas, electric light and water consumption.

Mr. Clegg said there was ample evidence that there existed a combination between the two telephone companies, but that the data in the way of proof fully to substantiate this charge was not at hand. He declared that the rental rates were excessive. He killed for more time in which to prepare for the final consideration of the bills.

Mr. Russell spoke along similar lines. Mr. Harris said the bills had been in committee for a month and it was high time that something was done with them. There had been ample opportunity to consider the bills in committee.

The bill against the bills was overwhelming.

LEGISLATIVE BRIEFS.

House bill No. 109, providing better facilities for children in public districts attending high schools, was passed.

The enacting clause was stricken out of house bill No. 151, providing for the performance of duties without fees by officers and exemption of poor persons furnishing coal bonds. This bill was submitted by Ashton and was a duplicate of a bill previously presented by Russell and killed.

Senate bill No. 31, increasing the salary of the stenographer of the supreme court from $1,200 to $1,500, was passed by the house yesterday.

Members of the legislature will visit Bingham Canyon Monday. Tuesday they will be the guests of the Bingham Canyon Commercial club.

House bill No. 136, providing for the claim of the architects Wrege and Treganza for building plans for a capital building, was referred to the committee on claims in the house.

For the second time house bill No. 97, relating to certain exemptions from inheritance tax, was killed in the house yesterday. Inasmuch as Mr. Nielson of San Juan, the author of the bill, was not present, the bill came up for consideration committee report adversely, the case was reopened and he was given an opportunity to speak.

The house yesterday passed senate bill No. 45, appropriating $2,000 for the relief of William Forsberg, of the state university. The death of Forsberg, who was burned and permanently crippled while operating a picture machine at the state fair.

Governor Spry sent to the house yesterday a committee report on the passage of senate bills Nos. 114 and 115. The bills relate to the establishment of a local high school.

Senate bill No. 83, on reconsideration, was passed by the house yesterday. The bill provides for a commission of three persons to investigate the school law, and to report thereon to the house by March 15. It had been amended to death Wednesday night by making the commission of three persons, and by the house yesterday.

House bill No. 123, by McCracken, relating to contributory negligence and assumed risk by employees, and making provisions for the recovery of damages, was passed by the house yesterday.

A minority report was signed by Mr. Clegg, favoring the passage of the bill.

The committee on labor, which had under consideration house bill No. 22, intended to abolish the board of public works in Salt Lake City, asked that the bill be sent to the committee on municipal corporations, and this was done.

Favorable report was made in the house yesterday on house bill No. 122, prohibiting persons under 21 years of age in operating engines, motors or other power devices attached to hoists in mines.

Local health officers are provided for by house bill No. 122, which was favorably reported out of committee yesterday. It is designed to help the sanitation of smaller towns.

Senate bill No. 13, relating to the appointment of delegates to the annual convention of the Utah State Teachers' Association, was favorably reported in the house yesterday.

The bill making it possible to organize county mutual life insurance companies, introduced by Mr. Hansen, was reported favorably yesterday.

The insurance committee of the house recommended that house bill No. 22, by Ashton, requiring that employers furnish copies of insurance policies, be not passed.

Senator Horsley yesterday introduced a bill to amend house bill No. 22, by wagon road over Johnson pass in Tooele county, the appropriation to be made with the proviso that the land be sold for $2,000 and also appropriate $2,000 for this purpose.

Senator Berner X. Smith yesterday introduced a blanket bill validating all of the acts of any and all county commissioners in Salt Lake County with reference to payment of commissioners' salaries, pauper clerks, assistant county physicians, additional office help, and other expenses. Bills covering the same subject were killed in the house.

A resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Berner X. Smith provides for the investigation of the system of record keeping in the state of Utah, especially with reference to transfers of land titles, and commission to report to the next legislature. This resolution was suggested by the governor's message.

Mary James, daughter of Daniel James, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, is recovering from the accident on the Wendover excursion on Wednesday, when her thumb was seriously crushed. Sergeant-at-Arms James has expressed his gratitude to D. S. Spencer of the Short Line, and to all of the Western Pacific officials, for their kindnesses at the time of the accident.

A bill to erect the new armory on the Capitol grounds was introduced by Senator Williams yesterday.

$25.00—California—$25.00.

SALT LAKE ROUTE now selling Colonist Tickets, above rate to San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Barbara, San Diego, Los Angeles, etc. Call 169 South Main.

Tribune-Reporter Printing Co., 66 West Second South. Phones 718.

GREEN GETS RISE FROM SEVERALS

Prohibition Bulletin Is Bitterly Denounced on Floor of the Senate.

SENATOR WILSON'S REPLY HE THINKS PARTY ORGAN IS IN THE SAME CLASS.

The third bulletin of the Republican Prohibition league caused more than a little sensation yesterday morning in the senate. The bulletin which grouped the senators purported to tell the story of how the deal between the Republican politicians and the liquor interests was made, and by clever innuendo made it plain that Senator Carl Badger was to be given credit for the coup by which the liquor dealers were taken into the Republican camp. To these charges the name of A. S. Reiser, editor of the "Bulletin," was attached. The bulletin was signed.

The third bulletin of the Republican Prohibition league caused more than a little sensation yesterday morning in the senate. The bulletin which grouped the senators purported to tell the story of how the deal between the Republican politicians and the liquor interests was made, and by clever innuendo made it plain that Senator Carl Badger was to be given credit for the coup by which the liquor dealers were taken into the Republican camp. To these charges the name of A. S. Reiser, editor of the "Bulletin," was attached. The bulletin was signed.

Immediately after the senate convened yesterday the senator who has been the especial objects of attack by "The Daily Bulletin," Senator Badger, called to order and denounced the publication. Senator Badger was vehement in his language and more matter-of-fact, and Kuchler spoke in a good-natured vein.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

Senator Wilson, the prohibition leader in the senate, denounced in terms scarcely less vehement than those of the other senators the Inter-Mountain Republican. It had been suggested that the publishers of the "Bulletin" were to be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them. Senator Wilson urged that the publishers and editors of the "Bulletin" be given credit for the senate and charges preferred against them.

SENATE ACTS ON MEASURES

Ten Bills Are Passed, One Is Killed and Two Sent Back to Committees.

NEW AMENDMENT IS ADDED BILL NOW PROVIDES FOR VOTE ON STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 10 per cent of all of the voters in all of the counties should so petition. The majority of the committee, however, recommended the passage of the bill as amended by the committee. The bill as amended provides for a peculiar combination of three different plans of temperance legislation, from regulation through the local option stage to state-wide prohibition. The bill as amended provides for regulation of the most stringent nature, including an anti-treating and a closing clause; the second part is a county local option, and the third provides for state option for state-wide prohibition.

The committee on manufactures and commerce, which has charge of the proposed liquor legislation, yesterday submitted two reports on senate bill No. 148, of which the committee is the author. One by Chairman Kuchler, recommends that the bill be not passed. Senator Kuchler said that he was unalterably opposed to a new section added to the bill by the committee which made state-wide prohibition the question at a special election to be held in July of 1930, providing 1